U. S. TAKES CONTROL OF COUNTRY'S COAL

Railroads Get Priority On Fuel Supplies; Util- ities Next.

Washington, July 25.—Support of the Railroad Labor Board as the only agency created by law for handling the transportation tie-up, acceleration of coal production under Federal protection and control and distribution were given by Administration spokesmen today as the three fundamentals of the Government's policy toward the industrial crisis involved in the coal and railroad strikes.

Restatement of the Government's position followed the regular Tuesday meeting of the Cabinet, which, for nearly three hours, devoted its attention to the double threat against the country's economic fabric—famine in fuel and disruption of interstate commerce.

The first step toward control of depleted transportation facilities and coal supply came shortly afterward in a statement from the Interstate Commerce Commission declaring that an emergency existed in the territory east of the Mississippi River which required the commission to direct the routing of all essential commodities and to fix preference and priority status to control movement of food and fuel.

Borah Asks For Investigation.

The priority order was followed by a "general service order" from the Commission, notifying "all common carriers" that an emergency existed which required them to disregard usual routing practice, freight rate divisions and traffic arrangements so as to obtain the most expeditious movement of essential freights.

Becoming effective tomorrow, the Commission's mandates give railroads first priority on fuel requirements with electric power, light, gas, water and sewer works, ice plants serving the public, and refrigeration plants engaged in preservation of food, following in the order named.

Proposed appointment of a Federal Commission to investigate the coal industry received further support today in a resolution introduced in the Senate by Chairman Borah of the Labor Committee.

Mr. Borah suggested the commission be composed of three members, appointed by the President and that it recommend the advisability of necessity of nationalizing the industry, or of the institution of government regulations.

In outlining the Government position in the railroad strike, Administration spokesmen said it had been decided that the Railroad Labor Board's authority to determine wages and working conditions for railroad employees must be recognized and upheld, and that the attempts to operate mines in spite of the miners' union strike must be continued until it is demonstrated that not enough men are willing to work under State and Federal protection to bring out an adequate tonnage.

It was added that the Administration was struggling to deal fairly with the entangled rights of all parties to the widespread industrial controversies, but intended above all to uphold the majesty and dignity of the Government of the United States.

Meanwhile in the fuel crisis resulting from the coal strike, the powers of the Government will be used to distribute the diminished current production of coal in accordance with the demands of public welfare, and to prevent the taking of extortionate profits.

President Harding was represented as unwilling to anticipate in advance what course might be taken should the coal output fail to be augmented to the required tonnage, but for the present week at least, it was stated, he would withhold creation of the suggested Federal coal commission.

May Yield Seniority Rights.

While the Railroad Labor Board would be upheld in its endeavors to deal with the striking craftsmen, it was intimated in official circles that if the concession of seniority rights to strikers who have left service would result in their return to work, the railroad managements ought to yield the point. The Board, too, it was said, might facilitate the concessions, even though Eastern lines and those of the Southwest have publicly declared that the status of men employed to replace the strikers would not allow the grant of full seniority to those who might return. President Harding, it was said, would remain in intimate contact with any steps which the Labor Board might take. There was no concealing that grave concern had been given Government officials by verified reports concerning the dwindling of coal output.

Almost no new production has been attained in Pennsylvania unlicensed coal fields since troops protection has been furnished and nonunion production in West Virginia, Tennessee and Kentucky has decreased far below June levels.

Miners, Operators May Confer.

The possibility was said to have been advanced in the Cabinet session that the President might call another conference of the miners and union officials and coal mine operators this time including the spokesmen of operating associations in West Virginia and Pennsylvania who were not willing to attend the former meetings.

President Harding was said to feel that the bituminous industry had too many miners and too many mines, and to have advanced a proposal that wage contracts should hereafter guarantee workers 280 working days a year, with a penalty clause against employers who failed to operate mines accordingly.

The plan met with scant favor. It was said, when put before operators and miners some weeks ago. It was also pointed out that the miners' license requirements under Illinois, Indiana and Pennsylvania State laws, the latter applying particularly to the anthracite region, made it impossible to build up any new labor forces.

Further, the President is inclined to believe that the bituminous industry conditions have risen which allow nearly 300,000 men to be employed on a three-day-per week working basis, at a wage which makes the situation agreeable to them.

He was said to consider this contrary to the whole scheme of life in a nation where the balance of the population works regularly, and to be an impossible foundation on which to maintain a basic industry. Also in the bituminous industry, labor cost of producing coal has been found by investigation to average about seventy-three per cent of the average wholesale selling price, which the government experts believe to be too high a proportion to go to that one element.

BENNETT-FUQUA

Miss Gola Bennett and Mr. W. R. Fuqua, both of Hartford, were quietly married at the home of the bride, Tuesday evening, July 25th. Rev. R. E. Fuqua, father of the bridegroom, performing the marital ceremony.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Bennett, lately graduated from the local high school, of quiet disposition and popular with her many friends and associates, while the bridegroom is a son of Rev. and Mrs. R. E. Fuqua, industrious and by present occupation a farmer. We join their friends in wishing for them success throughout their lives.

MINE BATTLE TOLL NOW 8; CHARRED BODY FOUND

Wellburg, W. Va., July 25.—The charred body of the eighth victim of the Cliftonville, W. Va., mine battle July 17, was found by workmen removing debris from the burned Saledka mine tangle of the Richland Coal Company. Deputy Sheriff John McManus announced last night.

ENJOYABLE OUTING AT PETER'S CAVE

On Saturday afternoon, last, Misses Novia Ross, Mildred Brown, Martha Southard, Louise Brown, Audrey Rhoades and Carrie Southard, and Messrs. Marvin Ross, R. P. Brown, Raymond Brown and Carl Brown, all of Beaver Dam, went to the Peter's Cave on a picnic. Everyone reported a delightful time. Miss Rhoades and Miss Ross spent Saturday night and Sunday with Miss Southard.

Judge W. H. Barnes and son, J. Glenn, city, returned Tuesday from a 10 days' motor trip to Washington, D. C., where the former had legal business with one of the Federal departments.

GOVERNOR DENIES SEEKING OFFICE

Morrow Challenge Post to Prove Assertions True.

Frankfort, Ky., July 25.—Denying that he has either publicly or privately sought any other office since he has been the governor of Kentucky, Governor Morrow today addressed a communication to the Louisville Evening Post, challenging it to prove the truthfulness of an editorial concerning a third federal judicial district in which he was charged with seeking another office while governor of Kentucky. Governor Morrow also demanded of the Post that it explain a recent cartoon carried under the heading "The Ventriloquist."

"My attention has been called to the editorial page of the Evening Post of Saturday, July 22nd. On that page there is an editorial concerning a third federal judicial district in Kentucky. In those editorials, based as you say, on an announcement, 'made at Frankfort that the plan, if created, will go to Governor Morrow,' you make the following specific charges in the following language: 'So far as Gov. Morrow is concerned, we do not see why he can not wait until some vacancy is created before he goes after another office. The governor is most persistent, however, in tracking office. From the day he assumed office at Frankfort, the governor has been casting his eye about for another office.'"

"The above statements are absolutely false and are without any foundation in fact. Since I have been governor of Kentucky I have never either publicly or privately, or at all, sought any other office, nor have I publicly or privately announced myself as a candidate for any other office, nor have I cast my eyes about for another office, nor have I sought in any way the judgeship of the district referred to in your editorial. You have in an editorial, which is, therefore, personal, made a direct statement of fact. I challenge its truthfulness and demand that you shall either prove the above statements to be true or acknowledge your willingness to publish a falsehood."

"On the same page of your paper there is a cartoon under the heading, 'The Ventriloquist.' It shows a figure of a man marked 'lobbyist' holding on his knee a figure marked 'lobbyist governor.' I ask you to state in the columns of your paper if you intended that cartoon as a charge that I am a lobbyist governor, or that as governor I have been controlled by the lobbyists. If the cartoon was not intended for this purpose, I ask you to have the frankness to so declare."

"The above request is made in order that there shall be no doubt as to whether you intended the cartoon referred to to apply to me."

GOFF-MAPLE.

Miss Geneva Goff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. W. Goff, was joined in marriage to Mr. T. B. Maple, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Maple, at the home of the former, in the Central Grove community, where each of the parties reside, July 22nd. The Rev. Oscar Ashby performed the marriage rites.

The young married people are popular in their set and have the best wishes of a large circle of friends.

GOOD RESULTS SHOWN IN DAVENESS COUNTY

Owensboro, Ky., July 26.—Good reports continue to come from different districts of this county in regard to the dark tobacco pool.

So far seventeen districts of the ninety-eight have been worked and 70 per cent to 99 per cent of the acreage in these has been signed to the pool. At no place has the percentage fallen below 70 per cent.

Some of the chairmen will hold their contracts until the intensive drive is made the latter part of this month, and make their reports in full at that time. It is thought, however, that between 700 and 800 acres were signed last week for the pool.

Chairman William Hayercraft and the local committee are much encouraged with the fruits of their labors so far, as a large acreage has already been pooled.

TOBACCO GROWERS MOVE TO ORGANIZE

First Meeting Is Held In Hartford
Tuesday, Temporary Officers Selected.

Messrs. George H. Rudy, W. C. Hayercraft, and C. A. Rogers of Owensboro, members of the organization committee, Dark Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association, were in Hartford Tuesday, July 25, for the purpose of starting an organization in Ohio County. Several representatives growers were in the meeting at the courthouse and a temporary organization was effected by the election of S. O. Keown as chairman and Prof. W. P. Rhoads as secretary. Lon Smith, L. B. Tichenor and T. H. Black were appointed as committee on arrangements.

At the adjournment of the meeting it was planned to have a mass meeting of Ohio County growers, at Hartford, Thursday, Aug. 3rd, at 1:30 p. m. At this meeting a permanent organization is to be effected. Joseph Passmore, organization Director, will be present and address the gathering.

Tobacco growers thruout Ohio county, for the most part, already are familiar with the workings of the Cooperative Association plan as contracts have been scattered broadcast through this paper and others, and by circular and otherwise. So it would seem that every grower should have his mind made up as to his desires and what seems best to do.

We are now not a grower of the weed, but many of our friends and relatives are, and our only desire in the matter is for their success, and after having inspected the contract and heard of the flattering success of the plan in this State, in the barley district, and by similar, organizations of producers of various other products in other states, we are constrained to believe that the Cooperative Association is the one agency by which the business of growing and marketing tobacco can be stabilized.

MORGANTOWN TEAM IS BATTING FOULS

Morgantown, Ky., July 21, 1922.
The Hartford Republican.

Dear Sir:—We have been reading your statements in the Hartford Republican of the Rockport and Morgantown game. We wish to state that the score in that game was 6 and 2 in favor of Rockport. It was not 6 and nothing. We also wish to state that Rockport has been beaten this year by Morgantown 4 and 2.

The original agreement with the Rockport Club was for a series of seven games, and after playing three games Rockport refuses to finish the series. We can beat Rockport any DAY, any PLACE and get a fair deal with everybody, except THE HARTFORD REPUBLICAN.

It is also not true that "Smith struck out 12" Morgantown players in the Beaver Dam game Sunday. He struck out two.

We can beat any team in Ohio County, or all teams combined, including the Republican.

Now to be perfectly frank and fair (as all Republicans should) we wish you would at least tell the truth about these games. We live in Butler County, and try to be fair in a ball game. We play with Ohio County teams, in the true spirit, and have splendid games, and are treated fair. Then comes your paper and falsely reports the results of these games.

We, of course, do not know where these reports come from but we do ask for the truth and believe we are, at least entitled to that.

Yours truly,
MORGANTOWN BASEBALL CLUB.

By Agreement of all players.
We received the foregoing article (the latter part of last week, and print same as received, presuming that it was meant for publication. There are spots therein in which the Republican is rather hard hit, and falsely accused, but we will, in all probability, live over it. To start out with, we have never by act or word wished to give other than true reports as to results of games played in Ohio County, or elsewhere, for the matter of that.

We have never spoken derogatory of the Morgantown team, collectively or individually. One of the games complained of, the Rockport game, was reported to us by the manager of that team, the statement as to results, were given exactly as he gave them to us by mail. Believing them to be correct we accordingly published as given. If they were otherwise we had no means of knowing them to be so. We therefore should not be accused of giving the Morgantown team an unfair deal. In connection with the Rockport-Morgantown contests we do however recall publishing the result of a game wherein Rockport was defeated by the score as stated, 4 to 2.

As to the statement that Smith struck out 12 Morgantown batsmen, that report was also received by us through the mail, written by one whom we supposed knew the facts. If he, the reporter, is connected with the Beaver Dam team we are not aware of the fact, although he resides in Beaver Dam.

We do our best to get reports of all games played in our County and have gone to quite a lot of trouble to get them correct, being forced in most cases to rely upon reports of others. If we err it is in the reports gathered and wholly unintentional. But for any one, or any organization of others to imply that we are intentionally unfair is, plainly speaking, a falsehood. As above stated, we had a high opinion of the Morgantown team, not only as a good playing aggregation, but as individuals as well, and have so stated in these columns and in person.

TO THE MEMORY OF A TEACHER

John C. Barnard, about eighteen years ago, attended the Bowling Green Business University and went to the Philippine Islands to teach. He returned to us ten or twelve years ago for postgraduate work and, after spending nearly a year here, started back to the Philippines to resume his duties and died aboard ship. Recently a gentleman was traveling in the Philippines and accidentally found a large monument erected to the memory of John C. Barnard, American Educator, Who Founded the Schools of Panay Island. He said there were also tablets in all the schools of that island put there to the memory of Mr. Barnard. This is very pleasing to those of us who remember pleasantly the fine qualities of our late friend. —(The Southern Exponent.)

Mr. Barnard was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barnard and was reared in Ohio County in the Liberty community. Many near relatives and friends, residents of the County, yet survive.

ROSINE

Mr. Tom Haymer has purchased a lot in Rosine and is building a house on it.

Mrs. Jimmie Pharris, who has for some time been very ill, is slowly improving.

Mrs. Nellie Lang is very ill.

Mrs. Mary Cummings went to Central City, Friday, on business.

Miss Josephine Thompson, of Horton, is visiting Miss Anna Maurine Alford this week.

Mrs. Custer Havens departed this life Wednesday night, July 19th, and was laid to rest in the Mount Pleasant Cemetery, the following day.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Camp of Horse Branch, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lang Sunday.

Miss Ethel Stogner of near Rosine, is very ill with malaria.

WASHINGTON

Mrs. L. L. Newcomb and two children, Laddell Ford and Edna Vivian, are visiting relatives and friends in Grayson county.

Misses Edyth Thinsley and Violet Allen, of this neighborhood, spent Saturday night with Miss Allen's sister, Mrs. Estis Hudson and Mr. Hudson, of Beda.

Miss Verna Newcomb is spending the week with her father, Mr. L. L. Newcomb, of this place.

NOTICE.

Rev. H. F. Jenkins of Owensboro, will preach at Green River Baptist church near Cromwell, the 5th Sunday in this month, at 11 o'clock.

All are invited to be present and hear him, especially all the old people. Let's make this a "Home Coming" as Brother Jenkins preached for this old church many years during his earlier ministry. Come!

ALBERT BOSKETT'S BODY DISCOVERED

Had Been Dead Beyond 20 Days; Odor Attracts Searchers.

What was left of the remains of Albert Boskett, was discovered by Messrs. Thomas Bishop and A. B. Hardin, Wednesday afternoon, July 26, in the Warden woods about one mile below Centertown and between a quarter and a half mile south of the L. & N. R. R. It had been pretty thoroughly fixed that the last time Boskett had been seen alive, was on the morning of July 4th at the crossing and it was believed, after diligent enquiry had been made amongst his relatives and friends that he was dead, and probably in that immediate section. Bishop and Hardin noticed an odor from the vicinity of the railroad crossing and by tracing same were led to the remains which were in a horrible condition. The flesh, what little remained un-eaten by insects, was entirely decomposed, leaving nothing by which identification could be made, other than a gold watch and the clothing he wore at the time of disappearance. Ten dollars in currency and some war savings stamps were also found in his pockets.

Coroner T. H. Pickrell was called, an inquest held, and a verdict of "Death from unknown cause" was rendered.

Mr. Boskett was 59 years old and left no children. His wife died some 12 or 15 months prior to his death, since which time he had been in depressed spirits, at times expressing himself as not caring particularly as to further life. He had apparently made himself a bed or resting place with some vines etc., removed his trousers and replaced his overalls, as to how death came about absolutely nothing was left from which to judge.

Mr. Boskett was a good citizen and possessed means sufficient to care for himself under ordinary conditions during the remainder of life, or for many years.

Burial of the remains took place yesterday afternoon at the Centertown cemetery.

SILESIA INDUSTRIES PRODUCE UNEASINESS

Germans And Poles At Odds Concerning Trade Prospects.

Berlin, July 22.—With the conclusion of the negotiations dealing with the surrender to Poland of Germany's richest industrial possessions in Upper Silesia, the export markets of that region pass into a new phase.

It is too early to say whether this will be to the advantage or disadvantage of the country. Some time must elapse before it becomes clear how well the content of a fifteen-year economic treaty will hold together the gap torn open by the Versailles treaty.

But one thing is already certain and that is the necessity of speaking and thinking in terms of sharply divided Polish and German industries.

The largest German industrial works in Polish-Silesia are the Hohenlohe Works and the Kattowitz Works, both of which will continue to be operated by their original concern—that is, situated on German soil and therefore not affected by the Geneva decision—will be incorporated in the Oehringen Limited in Gliwice and the same is true of the Kattowitz concern.

There are others of the large industrial concerns which will try to form new ties on the German side of the line and thus prove a formidable competition for the Polish industry.

Already there are signs of uneasiness among the Polish industrialists, among other voices heard on the subject being that of a Polish magnate who says that the iron mines of Upper Silesia had outstanding orders covering a period of four months, most of these orders being from Germany.

When, however, as a result of the definite fixation of the boundaries, no further orders come in from Germany, then the iron industry of German Silesia, which boasts of the most modern equipment, will constitute a formidable menace.

Today, in view of the low stand of the mark, and the increase of wages in Upper Silesia, the Polish iron industry is still able to maintain itself in competition with that of German Upper Silesia.

The last act of the Upper Silesian tragedy played in Geneva at least brought certainty to the country, but not to the economic life, despite the auspicious opening of trade with Russia. The condition in the coal market will exert a strong influence upon the Upper Silesian iron industry. Should the coal shortage continue in the same degree as at present, it would be futile to expect increased production.

When you feel lazy, out of sorts and yawn a good deal in the daytime, you can charge it to a torpid liver which has allowed the system to get full of impurities. Herbine cures all disorders produced by an inactive liver. It strengthens that organ, cleanses the bowels and puts the system in good healthy condition. Price 60c. Sold by Ohio County Drug Company.

PEDESTRIANISM AS A FINE ART

Walking, that health-giving exercise, is almost a lost art in this age of bicycles, motorcycles, autos, railroads, electric cars, elevators, "moving stairways," etc. Even the children have their "scooters." City people, especially, live such an automobile life that some day their descendants may be born in a sitting position to stay that way the rest of their lives.

Still, some people like to walk in spite of so many ways to get around with a minimum of effort, and some of them get to be pretty good at it, too. The average person thinks that a walk of a mile or so a day is doing fine, and most anyone will brag of 20, 30, 50 or perhaps 100-mile "hikes." But such distances are inconsiderable to the real walkers—the champions of the sport—who would regard such "hikes" as mere steps along the way.

In 1861 Edward P. Weston of Providence, R. I., attracted attention as a pedestrian by walking from Boston to Washington to attend the first inauguration of Lincoln. Up until then he had been in the newspaper business, but walking suddenly struck his fancy and he forsook journalism for pedestrianism. After covering 260,000 miles on foot, Weston claimed the world's record and held it for many years.

In 1897 E. F. Lambreth of Fort Worth, Tex., came to the conclusion that he was just as good a walker as anyone and that he could beat Weston's record. He talked the matter over with several walking associations and finally signed a contract by which he would receive $195,000 if he broke the world's record.

Since then Lambreth has been walking almost constantly and has covered a total of 270,000 miles. He has already received $130,000 of the amount agreed upon. By July 1921 he expects to retire. Lambreth says he has walked over 45 per cent of all the standard gauge railroad tracks in the world and has covered about 52 per cent of all the earth's highways. Three times he has circled the globe on foot, and more than half of his walking has been in foreign lands.

In South America he has "hoofed" 25,000 miles; and in Central America and Mexico he has put 10,000 miles behind him. In Canada and Alaska, Shank's mare carried him 15,000 miles, and in Europe and Asia he covered 75,000 miles.

As proofs of the places thru which he has passed he obtains statements from mayors and other public officials. He has received enormous quantities of autographed letters from governors, railroad presidents, civil and military authorities etc., each of which declares that on such-and-such a date the rambling pedestrian passed this or that way, on foot, bound for a certain point.—The Pathfinder.

MIGRATORY SCHOOL LAW SUCCESSFUL

Juvenile Delinquency Reduced By Measure, Says Report Of State Supervisor.

Sacramento, Cal., July 22.—Schools on wheels are a success.

To meet the growing problem of the child without a permanent home the California Legislature a year ago passed the migratory school law in order to take education to those whose homes shifted so frequently they were unable to attend regular schools.

Already juvenile delinquency and the growth of lawless tendencies thru lack of proper training have been greatly decreased in California by the educational opportunities offered to more than 1,000 formerly neglected children under the provisions of the law, according to a report to Governor W. D. Stephens by Georgianna C. Carden, state supervisor of school attendance.

Approximately 200 children of migratory families have been instructed under the direct supervision of the State Department of Education in the last year, Miss Carden said, and more than 1,000 others have been helped to educational training by exacting administration of the new statute in every county of California.

The report pointed out the work of educating children of migratory families is rapidly passing the stage of experimentation and that literally thousands will be given assistance during the next year.

"Because of the climatic conditions and excellent transportation facilities in California," said Miss Carden, "we have had for some years a growing migratory population, a class of agricultural workers who claim residence in no certain communities and for whose children no particular locality is responsible. Lack of education in just such cases as these gives pread to delinquency, I. W. W. and lawless tendencies of every variety. The new state law provides educational opportunities for minors in these migratory families, for it is a well-known fact that the child who can not say 'my school' and 'my town' later has difficulty in saying 'my country.'"

In every home where there is a baby there should also be a bottle of McGee's Baby Elixir. It may be needed at any time to correct sour stomach, wind colic, diarrhoea or summer complaint. It is a wholesome remedy, contains no opium, morphine or injurious drug of any kind. Price 35c and 60c per bottle. Sold by Ohio County Drug Co.

ROAD OFFICIALS CONSIDER LINKING UP STATE SYSTEMS

A meeting of New England State highway officials and engineers of the Bureau of Public Roads of the United States Department of Agriculture, on June 20, marks an important point in the development of highways in this country. This is the first meeting ever held between officials empowered to act, for the purpose of laying out a system of highways to serve an area larger than a single State. It is the first of a series of similar meetings which will be held between the Federal officials and highway authorities of various groups of States, the object of which will be the solution of the problem for the whole country.

This progressive step, long wished for by all users of the highways, can be attributed to the requirements of Federal-aid legislation. It is required that all Federal aid be spent on a connected system of highways designed to serve the needs of the whole country. Tentative systems have been submitted by all except eight States, and now the series of meetings is being held to connect and coordinate the proposed State systems.

The Bureau of Public Roads intends to push this work as rapidly as possible, so as to lay before the people the plans for what will be by far the greatest highway system in the world. At present only roads certain to be on the system are being approved for construction with Federal aid; in May more than 20 miles of completed road was added to the system on each working day. It is estimated that the system will comprise 180,000 miles of highway.

THE OMNISCIENT GUIDE:—The steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord.—Psalms 37:23.

HOW TO GET ON:—Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; give, and ye shall have.—Matthew 7:7.

HOW TO GAIN ALL:—Seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.—Matt. 6:33.

HOW TO OVERCOME EVIL:—Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love; in honor preferring one another; recompense to no man evil for evil. Provide things honest in the sight of all men. Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good.—Romans 12: 10, 17, 21.

GIVING AND GETTING:—Give, and it shall be given unto you; good measure, pressed down, and shaken together, and running over, shall men give into your bosom. For with the same measure that ye mete withal it shall be measured to you again.—Luke 6: 38.

FRUITAGE OF SECRET PRAYER:—But thou, when thou prayest, enter into thy closet, and when thou hast shut thy door, pray to thy Father which is in secret, and thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly. For your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask him.—Matt. 6: 6, 8.

GUARD YOUR THOUGHTS:—Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things.—Philippians 4:8.

NEWSPAPER VIEWS

Washington Post—Prosperity will come when men watch their work instead of watching the clock work.

Kansas City Times—Somehow we couldn't help noticing that when Louie needed a doctor he didn't pick one that learned doctoring in a bolshevik school.

Chicago Tribune—Gov. James M. Cox of Ohio called for Europe after giving out an interview flaying President Harding's administration. Didn't he run against Harding two years ago, or do something political? The name sounds familiar.

St. Paul Pioneer Press.—The more red blooded of us are on the lookout for the standard bearer to be the pioneer in the "man movement" in this country.

American Greeting—A man would rather walk down the street carrying a 10-pound fish than to be mayor of the town.

Forbes Magazine—The two pillars of every wholesome nation must be the heart and the hearth.

Albany Journal—When Europe has learned that she cannot depend upon Uncle Sam to do for her what she ought to do for herself, she will have learned a valuable lesson.

Ohio State Journal—We might explain in our frank and truthful way to the inspiring Philippines that even as smart people as we are can't govern ourselves very well yet.

Texarkanan—However, the hack fence is still a prominent broadcasting station.

Columbia Missourian—While opportunity knocks only once, the rest

AMERICAN TOURISTS VICTIMS OF ROGUES

U. S. Produces Majority of "Snickers" Is Statement of Scotland Yard.

London, July 22.—"Every day a 'snicker' is born, and the majority of them are raised in the United States," declares Scotland Yard.

Their opinion is based on the fact that every day and almost all day they are deluged with complaints by Americans of swindling by rogues, tricksters and confidence men, with all their old time-honored henry formulae.

Here is one of the latest instances. Two Americans entered into conversation with another tourist at St. Paul's Cathedral, and somehow the same tourist met them coming out of their hotel next morning and suggested that they should go with him to get tickets to view the mint and come and see it. One of them went to the British Museum, and the other went with the tourist.

The result of that morning's work was that the latter was relieved of over a thousand dollars.

It was the old trick. A "stranger" in front of them dropped a bulky envelope. The American picked it up. And the grateful "stranger" entered into conversation. He explained that he had $500,000 to give away in charity, and the man who had just saved the bulky envelope, containing valuables, was obviously the man to be entrusted with giving away $500,000 to American charities, for which he would receive $500 for his trouble.

Thereupon the American drew $1,465 from an American bank to show that he was a man of substance. They then went to a hotel and had some drinks. And then each in turn showed his trust by giving valuables to the original distributor, who went out for ten minutes.

In the American's case the original trickster found an excuse to go out also. And neither came back.

With this ordinary tricksters would have been content. But not so these chevallars. They went at once to the British Museum, collected the other American and by the same trick took $400 away from him.

Last week another American visitor was swindled by the same ancient story of $1,500 and a diamond ring.

The biggest coup of this season was when the confidence men relieved an American of $5,000 in less than an hour. As it happened, the police could have secured the thieves if only the victim had remained to give evidence against them. But he was in a hurry to return home and refused to wait.

Doing hard work in a bent or stooping position puts a stitch in the back that is painful. If the muscles have become strained, you can't get rid of it without help. The great penetrating power of Ballard's Snow Liniment will appeal to you most strongly at such times, because it is the very thing you need. Price 25c, 60c and $1.20 per bottle. ## FIRST HUNGARIAN PARTRIDGES IMPORTED SINCE BEFORE WAR

Importations of Hungarian partridges have been resumed this spring for the first time since before the World War, reports the biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture. Two shipments have entered at the port of New York—one of more than 1,000 birds for the game commission of Montana, and the other, of 200 birds, for New York. Recent reports show that the Hungarian partridge has become well established in certain parts of the Northwest, and that it is fairly abundant in several counties in eastern Washington. For several years prior to the war large numbers of these birds were imported, but later the shipments diminished on account of high prices and the lack of success in establishing the birds in many places where they were liberated.

In every home where there is a baby there should also be a bottle of McGEE'S BABY ELIXIR. It may be needed at any time to correct sour stomach, wind colic, diarrhoea or summer complaint. It is a wholesome remedy, contains no opium, morphine or injurious drug of any kind. Price 35c and 60c per bottle. Sold by Ohio County Drug Co.

WAR ELIER DEAD, INTERNATIONAL CROOK

New York, July 22.—Scorning medical aid because he was afraid to live, refusing a priest's last sacraments because he craved to die, John Walsh, 65, world war veteran, international crook and man of mystery is dead tonight, thus ending a search which for five years baffled the police of two continents.

Known as "Liverpool Jack," "Ward" "Waters" and "Waldron," Walsh, suffering from five bullet wounds which he stuffed with tissue paper merely "to keep the sheets clean" went to his sister's home.

"If you call a priest or a doctor I'll jump out of the window," he said. "I am afraid to live so I've got to die."

"I've fixed up my wounds so as not to muss up the bed."

Walsh escaped from Trenton prison early in 1917 to fight for the land he loved. He was still a fugitive from that prison and was wanted, according to police here, for several jobs in Europe where he had served several terms.

After escaping from the Trenton prison, Walsh joined the army. Although 60 years old at that time, he passed for 35. Because of his previous knowledge of flying he had obtained a post in the air service. He served as an instructor several months.

Walsh was known for his daring and gameness when in a tight place. The latter characteristic was further evidenced by his refusal of medical treatment, possibly for fear he would have to inform on his comrades.

Walsh is believed to have died as a result of a gun fight with Arthur Lowe, a patrolman. Trails of blood that led from the scene of the fight indicated that his assailant had been shot.

Walsh's last words were "The end is near, thank God."

Loss of Appetite.

As a general rule there is nothing serious about loss of appetite, and if you skip a meal or only eat two meals a day for a few days you will soon have a relish for your meals when meal time comes. Bear in mind that at least five hours should always elapse between meals so as to give the food ample time to digest and the stomach a period of rest before a second meal is taken. Then if you eat no more than you crave and take a reasonable amount of outdoor exercise every day you will not need to worry about your appetite. When the loss of appetite is caused by constipation as is often the case, that should be corrected at once. A dose of Chamberlain's Tablets will do it.

CULBERSON LOSES IN TEXAS PRIMARY

Dallas, Tex., July 24.—With approximately 359,000 votes counted out of a prospective total of from 400,000 to 700,000 in the State in Saturday's Democratic primary, it appeared certain today that United States Senator Charles A. Culberson has been defeated for the nomination to succeed himself and that the second primary on August 26 will see Ku Klux Klan forces fighting it out with their opponents.

Earl B. Mayfield, present State Railroad Commissioner, is leading former Gov. James E. Ferguson by nearly 25,000 votes, while Culberson is nearly 35,000 behind Mayfield.

There was expectation today that complete returns will materially change the relative positions of the three leaders.

Ex-Congressman "Boh" Henry has been eliminated from the race and is running last, Clarence Owsley, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, in the Wilson administration, is not far ahead of Henry, while Cullen P. Thomas appears to be the runnerup to Culberson.

Henry was, through his own announcement, a Klan candidate, but in the closing days of his campaign charged a plot to throw Klan support to Mayfield.

Ferguson, who was once impeached as Governor, has staged a strong comeback on his "light wine and beer" and labor platform. Ferguson attacked the Klan in the latter days of the campaign.

Gov. Pat M. Neff has apparently secured a safe majority over his opponents, Fred S. Rogers, Harry T. Warner and W. Kling, and probably will be nominated in the first primary.

Thomas L. Blanton has been renominated for Congress in the Seventeenth District.

One woman candidate, Mrs. Edith Wilkins, is sure of a seat in the State Legislature. There were six other women aspirants to State honors, none of whom, however, appears to be in the running.

Summer Complaint in Children.

There is not anything like so many deaths from this disease now as before Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy came into such general use. When this remedy is given with castor oil as directed and proper care is taken as to diet, it is safe to say that fully ninety-nine out of every hundred cases recover. Mr. W. G. Campbell of Butler, Tenn., says "I have used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy for summer complaint in children. It is far ahead of anything I have ever used for this purpose."

RATTLER KILLED BY RAT IN FIGHT

Rodent and Reptile Battle In Pit
While Farmers Look On,
Victor Freed.

Rechester, N. Y., July 22.—Charles Johnson, a farmer, living south of Clyde, caught a rattlesnake and housed it in a box. He had planned to bring the snake to Rechester and turn it over to Pete Gruber, better known as "Rattlesnake Pete."

A rat of enormous size ventured into one of Johnson's steel traps. The rodent was so large that he could not enter the trap. The springs held him by his front legs.

Rat Fights Snake.

Astonished at the size of the rat, Farmer Johnson thought a little sport would be appreciated. Inviting several farmer friends, Johnson managed to drop the rat into a potato pit and then shook the box holding the rattler over it. The snake soon fell into the pit and coiled up in a corner. It was expected that the snake would make short work of the rat.

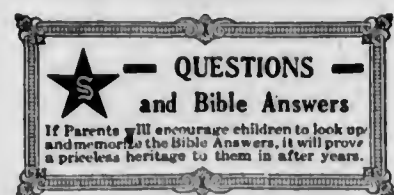

For a few minutes nothing happened, both snake and rat taking opposite corners and eyeing each other very carefully. Suddenly the snake began an attack. With lightning swiftness it shot out its head, caught the rat unawares and sank its fangs in the animal's nose. The rat squealed with pain and rage and actually tore itself loose in a desperate struggle in which both rat and rattler rolled over the floor of the pit.

Rodent Chokes Reptile.

Next the rat sprang at the snake. As the snake squirmed the rat leaped into the air and caught the snake back of its head, tearing the flesh and inflicting a deep wound with its teeth. The energy of the rat's attack apparently puzzled the snake, which was bitten time and again. Finally the rat secured a firm hold on the snake directly under its head and hung on until the serpent was fairly choked to death.

The farmers covered the pit with cordwood and left rat and dead snake overnight. The rat was found to be alive and active in the morning. Much surprise was expressed that the rat was alive, as it was believed the snake's poison would have ended the rat's life in the night. Johnson decided that the rat had earned a right to live. Accordingly the rodent was enticed into a box containing a quantity of dry bread and cheese. From the farm it was carried to the Montezuma swamp, a mile away, and given its liberty.

FORMER TREASURER OF KENTUCKY DIES

Paducah, Ky., July 24.—Maj. H. S. Hale, a prominent business man of Mayfield and at one time State Treasurer of Kentucky, died at his home early today, after a long illness. He was 86 years old.

Major Hale served in General Forrest's cavalry in the War Between the States, and at the close of the war was elected Sheriff of Graves County, serving two terms. He had been identified with the business and civic life of Mayfield for half a century, and was president of the First National Bank for a number of years, having retired several years ago because of failing health.

His sons, Nat and Theodore Hale, are cashier and assistant cashier of the bank. Lindsay Hale, a son, is postmaster of Mayfield. During the Buckner administration Major Hale was appointed State Treasurer to fill an unexpired term and later served as Treasurer under the John Young Brown administration.

The funeral will be held Tuesday.

MISS ROBERTSON FOR RE-ELECTION

At Cometa, Okla., Miss Alice M. Robertson, congresswoman from Oklahoma, stood on the site where the first missionary school in the old Indian country was established, and opened her campaign for the Republican renomination. She said her only platform was that she was "a Christian, an American and a Republican." Miss Robertson said she had never made and never would make a pre-election promise.

CABLE MARRIAGE NOT LEGAL

While serving in Alsace during the war Lester M. Mahens, of the A. E. F., met Mlee. Hahn. He was suddenly recalled home and later Judge Bryan, of St. Helena, Nehr, called the girl: "Do you take Lester Mahens to be your lawfully wedded husband?" The answer, "I do" came by mail and the marriage certificate was forwarded to Alsace. Then Mrs. Mahens decided to come over to hubby but when she reached New York she was told the marriage certificate was N. G., and that she would have to have a regular marriage before she could enter the country.

NEGRESS PILOT OF THE AIR

Bessie Coleman a Chicago negress, is on her way over here, having just been granted an air pilot's license in Germany. She holds a brevet license in France and has flown extensively in Holland. It is said she is the first of her race to become a full licensed flyer. After refusing an offer from Moscow to teach flying to Russian women, Miss Coleman said: "I am going to start a pilots' school in Chicago."

FOLLOWS CIRCUS FOR VOTES

If a politician wants his or her audiences ready made all that is necessary to do is to trail a circus. This has been done many times and Mrs. Lydia Adams-Williams, candidate for the Republican nomination for U. S. senator from Nevada, is making good use of this maneuver now, following circus outfits all over her state.

REDS TO RESTORE PRIVATE OWNERSHIP RIGHTS, REPORT

London, July 24.—The Soviet Government has announced that it will restore private ownership rights, according to a bulletin received today by the Exchange Telegraph Company from Russia by way of Berlin.

LARGE INCREASE SHOWN IN ALCOHOLIC DEATHS

New York, July 24.—An increase of nearly 89 per cent in alcoholic deaths this year over those of 1920 and 27 per cent over 1921 has been reported by the Chief Medical Examiner for New York. The report shows that eighty persons died from alcoholism in the first six months of this year. These include only victims who died without medical attention. Medical Examiner Dr. Charles Norris said many others probably died from alcoholism who were attended by private physicians.

MOTHER'S SKIRTS

When I was just a little lad
And had my feelings hurt,
I used to hide my wounded pride
Behind my mother's skirts.
But now the little boys and girls
Are up against it right,
The skirts today are such that they Don't hide the mother—quite.

WICKED DANCE TABOOED

The Bayside Yacht club of New York issued an ultimatum to its members that any flapper caught dancing the "Lorraine," Broadway's latest dance contortion, would be ducked in the bay.

RUSSIAN LETTER LADEN WITH NUMEROUS STAMPS

Akron, O., July 22.—A letter, containing 391,000 rubles' worth of stamps, has just been received from Russia by Jacob Umansky, of this city. Before the World War these stamps would, normally, have cost about $195,000 or a little more than fifty cents each. The 391,000 rubles' worth of stamps today are valued at about thirty-five cents.

IRISH IRREGULARS AGAIN DEFEATED

Retreating Into Mountains, are Hard Pressed by Regulars.

Dublin, July 24.—National Army troops have gained a fresh victory in West Ireland by capturing Ballyhanna, County Mayo, from the Republican irregulars, it was announced today.

The free state triumph in the capture of Limerick was swiftly followed by successes in the surrounding district. A number of minor positions in this area have been added to the list of free state victories, according to today's official bulletin. It is known that at least fifteen of the national troops were killed in the Limerick fighting and eighty-seven wounded. It is generally believed at least thirty of the irregulars lost their lives.

London, July 24.—Unconfirmed reports received in London today said the Irish irregular forces were retreating with all speed into the Gal-tee and Knockmaldown mountains, harassed by free state troops, who are pressing them hard and preventing them from concentrating for resistance.

A Waterford dispatch to the Daily Express says the irregulars have burned the barracks at Clonmel and Tipperary which had long been held as garrisons and it is believed the national army forces have occupied both these places. This, however, is not claimed in any official report.

The Express correspondent says it is believed the pressure being exerted by the national troops upon both flanks of the Republicans will compel them to make a stand, perhaps their last, in these mountains.

Farmers Mutual..... 59

FRIDAY..... JULY 28

Charles A. Culberson, present member of the U. S. Senate failed in the recent Democratic primary in Texas to secure the required number of votes to be that party's candidate to succeed himself. Clarence Ous-ley, who was assistant secretary of agriculture in the Wilson Administration was one of the "also rans."
Is the defeat of these two, likewise a black eye to the Harding administration?

As may be seen, by notice elsewhere in this issue, a temporary organization of the Dark Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association has been made in and for Ohio County.
The steps were made early this week to put the Sapiro Pochling plan on its feet in this section. The time for execution of contracts, while short,
is amply sufficient for all purposes.
Without providential interference, Ohio County Farmers should have a splendid quality of the weed this year and the acreage, as it seems to us, is also large. Hence it follows that the present offers a splendid time for every farmer, grower of tobacco, who desires that the product of his, and his household's toil be marketed in a scientific and business-like manner, to become a member of the association. This kind of an association has the approval of the Government and there is no trouble in financing this sort of an organization. The inability to finance organizations of the tobacco growers has always been their downfall. In unity only is there strength. Get behind the proposition Mr. Farmer!
By proper support, for once in your life you can have the undisputed privilege of fixing a fair price for the sale of your product. By any other method you convey that right to the man who wants to buy. The proposition is a very plain one. What are you going to do about it?

BEADS ODDLY STRUNG (By I. D. Claire.)

Returning sanity in women's dress is finally in evidence. It begins at the heel, but maybe it will extend upward to meet a descending skirt.

Standing at the guard rail of the Fountain Ferry swimming pool, late yesterday afternoon and looking down at the whirling, swirling and seductively attired mermaids it occurred to me that if "Uncle" Joe Robertson could only witness this delectable spectacle his cup of joy would be full. (If "Uncle" Joe is dead or has joined the Holy Rollers the editor will delete this mention.)

A friend remarked to me the other day that he read these paragraphs regularly and felt disappointed when they did not appear, and just when I was beginning to swell up he continued: "They, like the Times' "Mills Point to Big Sandy" column, once in a long while have a really clever comment, and I am always afraid I'll miss it when it does appear."

Buddy McPheag told me the other day he had been forced to drop his insurance. He said it has become a question of giving up his policies or leaving off his moonshine, and the insurance had to go.

When eggs were fifty cents a dozen early in the spring my bunch insisted on living on eggs, but as soon as the big price drop came they turned to tomatoes. Tomatoes at thirty cents a dozen appealed to them very temptingly. Now that they are three pounds for a dime I do not dare to tell them the price, and they are still eating 'em.

This old world is brim full of interesting things if one only had eyes to see and ears to hear them. Late yesterday afternoon I was on West Walnut street in the heart of the colored district, and my attention was attracted to a street crowd numbering perhaps five hundred people. It was a preaching service by a minister of The Church of God. This is a new sect, just launched by a colored minister, who by the way was found murdered last week. The preacher had two of the brethren as readers.
He would turn to one and shout,
"Now read Acts five-three." The reader would recite a verse refering to The Church of God. "What?" the preacher would shout, "did you say
The Church of God again?" "He said it" would come response from numerous persons present. Again and again this procedure was repeated.
The whole process was carried on in a dramatic and humorous manner, and gravity and levity mixed harmoniously to the delight of the audience.
The negro is peculiarly original, and has a happy way of mixing his joys and sorrows that is entirely unknown to his white brother.

Some one asked me recently how it happened that this bead string was always of the same length. I had to think a minute myself when it occurred to me that I use the same size sheet of paper each week and quit writing when I have filled it out.

TEACHER'S SALARY SCHEDULE

Of Ohio County, Kentucky, for School Year 1922-23.

The salary schedule must be made by the County Board of Education and submitted in duplicate to the State Board of Education for approval by the State Board before teachers' contracts are made; and an approved schedule must be in effect before any payments are made to teachers.

No teacher can be legally employed who does not hold at the time of his employment a proper legal certificate which will not expire during the term for which he is employed.

The first 25c of the county school levy must be devoted exclusively to supplementing teachers' salaries, or as much of it as is needed to meet the salary schedule and the minimum salary law. In those counties where the 25c levy when added to the state per capita is not sufficient to meet the minimum salary law, the county board may pay a lower salary than the legal minimum.

Salaries in no county ought to be uniform, but the salary paid should have a direct relation to the teacher's preparation and experience.

This salary schedule must be kept posted in the county superintendent's office, and must be published in the local paper. It must be made the basis and a part of the teacher's contract.

The salaries of all teachers employed by the county board of education, whether teaching in the elementary schools of the county or in county high schools, will be based on the following:

Why We Handle and Recommend Crown Gasoline And Other Standard Oil Products

In the first place, there's none better made by anybody, anywhere.

If there were better, we know that the Standard would have it.

With the universally acknowledged responsibility, the unsurpassed equipment and cooperation of so great a public service institution as the Standard Oil Company (Ky.) to back us up in any statement we make, and in the service we give, we know that we can, and will, give you the most for your money in every purchase of gasoline, motor oil or any other Standard Oil product.

We don't try to "spoof" you into trading with us by mere assertions and technical terms. We "deliver the goods"—because we've got the goods to deliver.

Crown Gasoline is made right here in Kentucky by the Standard Oil Company, incorporated in Kentucky, from whose great modern refinery at Louisville, Ky., we get direct the pure, fresh, unadulterated product that's acknowledged the best by every test for your motor and pocketbook. Deal with us and play safe.

How to Accomplish More Work In One Day

To be popular now-a-days, farm tools must not only do their work well, but they must do it with less man-power. Working along these lines, SWAYNE, ROBINSON & COMPANY of Richmond, Indiana, have been unusually successful in the design of a MONEY-MAKER hay press for the Fordson.

Unusual strength, dependability and capacity are the important qualities needed in a press to be operated by the Fordson. All these qualities are secured in the design and construction of the MONEY-MAKER.

Strength is secured by putting into each press the highest quality of material and the quantity of metal necessary, worked up in correctly designed parts. Take, for example, the gears that must withstand intermittent severe strains. The most carefully compounded semi-steel is used in casting them and in addition, they are given rigid, permanent alignment in a continuous iron bed plate and heavy bearings.

Neither in the making of the gears nor in the construction of the frame is any sacrifice made to meet competition. It has been the SWAYNE-ROBINSON POLICY for eighty years to build the best tools possible without regard to the price at which competing tools might be sold. Fortunately for farmers, the policy has made sales so large that quantity production of MONEY-MAKER machines has kept the price down to the lowest level.

HORSE "CEMETERY" IN EGYPT

American Expedition Has Unearthed Graves of Steeds That Once Bore Proud Royalty.

Objects unearthed at El-Kur'uw, on the Upper Nile, by the Harvard University, Museum of Fine Arts expedition shed new light on the early history of Ethiopia, the tombs of all the kings from 750 B. C. to 250 B. C. having been recovered.

It is known that King Piankhy was a great connoisseur of horses. In his account of his besieging the Egyptian city of Eshmun he tells of his anger at finding the horses of King Nubiat starved thin as a result of the siege. Hence it is reasonably conjectured that Piankhy started a cemetery of horse graves which was found at El-Kur'uw—the only burying ground of its kind that has been discovered in the Nile valley. Here, in four rows, are the graves of the steeds of several monarchs. They have been plundered, but not so thoroughly as to prevent finding some of the trappings; a gilded carrier, a silver head band, four strings of very large bronze balls, beads, amulets and other objects.

These horses were manifestly sacrificed at the funeral of the king in order that their spirits might accompany his into the other world. The sacrifice of men and animals at funerals is now well established as an ancient Ethiopian custom by excavations in Kerma. But the sacrifice of horses was a thousand years before the beginning of the Ethiopian monarchy, and in all the royal tombs of Napata no other survival of the custom was detected.

WON FAME AS SEA FIGHTER

Scandinavian Hero Also the Center of Many Legends That Have Endured Him to Posterity.

One of the great Scandinavian heroes of modern times was Tordenkjeld, who rose from the rank of naval cadet to admiral in eight years, and died at the age of thirty, and is accounted today as a naval strategist of the first order. It was Tordenkjeld who, by his operations against Charles XII of Sweden, preserved the freedom of his native Norway and saved the integrity of Denmark.

All his experiences were exceedingly colorful and picturesque, so much so, indeed, that legend has been busy in providing him with an array of adventures which undoubtedly never happened. One of these is the story that, when a boy, he sat down on a griddlestone to wear out the leather patches which had been put on the seat of his trousers as a punishment for tearing his clothes. Once he pursued a frigate much larger than his own until his ammunition gave out. He sent word to the enemy, inviting the commander to come aboard for a glass of wine and asking whether he would lend some powder to continue the fight. It was this sort of bravado which his age delighted in. He was killed in a duel in 1720.

Disillusionment.

Into the restaurant she came, with the air of a princess, a truly regal figure clad in brown from top to toe, and looking as if she had just visited a Parisian modiste and a beauty parlor—a perfectly groomed, handsome woman.

There was an air of refinement about her. She looked expensively turned out in the simple, deceptive way.

She seated herself at a table and there were little exclamations of admiration and envy from other diners near.

A waitress approached. Every one rushed to listen to the beautiful creature speak.

In a high-pitched voice she ordered: "Bring me an onion omelet."

It was brought and she ate it with her spoon.

Oldest Known Paint.

White lead is the very oldest light-colored paint of which anything is known. It was mentioned by the Greek general, Xenophon, who wrote some 400 years B. C. It was made by putting vinegar in a jar then some twigs to support the layers of lead above the vinegar. After the lead was placed on the twigs the jar was covered to keep out the dirt and buried in stable manure. The manure fermented, produced a gentle heat and also carbonic acid gas.

When the jar was opened after a considerable period the lead would be corroded under the influence of the heat and gas. Thus a large proportion of the lead would be changed into a fine white powder which would be purified and used as a pigment for paint.

"Charge of the Light Brigade."

The charge of the light cavalry at the battle of Balaklava in 1854 during the Crimean war, and celebrated in Tennyson's great poem, "The Charge of the Light Brigade," was one of the most noted military actions of modern times. It was the result of a serious blunder on the part of the British commander.

A large force of Russians, more or less disorganized by the British heavy cavalry, was attacked by the "Light Brigade," under Lord Uxbridge. The Russians had reformed on their own ground, and of the 670 of the British force, only 198 returned to their own lines after the failure of the charge. It was in this same action that the British infantry was first termed a "thin red line."

FRANKLIN KEPT HIS LAURELS

Appropriately, Apostle of Thrift Was Allowed to Retain Ornaments for Exceptional Time.

New York, the Sun of that city states, is one place where there are almost laurels enough to go around. It is the custom of the city to be generous with them, but they never last. Three days is about the limit.

That is, three days marks about the length of time when the crowd will endure the sight of them on the living. After that they view them with amusement. But when hung on a bronze or marble statue by common consent and the custom of the park department they are given thirty days.

Benjamin Franklin was permitted to keep his last crop of laurels longer than most statues. Although it was by reason of his very many illustrious qualities that his statue became a landmark in Park row, it was particularly because of his position as the patron saint of all those who hold thrift as a cardinal virtue that he was adorned some weeks ago with more wreaths than any Washington ever managed to hang on himself.

He kept them, too, until they were of absolutely no more use. The day they were put up people traveled from all live boroughs to gaze at the bronze likeness of the publisher of "Poor Richard's Almanac"—that first of all the best sellers of America—and to consider their own sins or to contemplate their own virtues in the matter of thrift. But this week when they were cut down no one paid the slightest attention to the two "white wings" who were climbing about the pedestal jerking down the wreaths and slinging them on the pavement.

GOT NAME FROM INDIAN CHIEF

How the City of Medicine Hat, in Canada, Acquired Its Decidedly Odd Cognomen.

Medicine Hat, the Canadian city which figures so prominently in weather reports, and which possesses undoubtedly one of the most extraordinary names of all the cities of the world, acquired its title from an old Blackfoot chief whose tepee stood on the site which is today the center of the city. He was chiefly celebrated for an amazing head-gear to which he attributed magical powers, and which he called his "medicine hat." Good fortune was supposed to attend him whenever he wore it, whether at war or on the hunt.

Once a great battle was fought between the Blackfeet and the Crees on the site of the present city. The fight went against the Crees and, just as they prepared to leave the field, a strong gust of wind caught the "medicine hat," lifted it off the head of the chief and deposited it in the river. This was considered an evil omen and the Blackfeet immediately fled to the mountains in great disorder.

Why a "Jumper?"

The word was originally a "jump," and is first met in 1615, as a "jacket or loose coat reaching to the thighs."

The dainty feminine garment of today owes its parentage to the shapeless garment of coarse sackcloth sometimes worn by coal heavers or dock laborers. For this was the original "jump," essentially a male garment of the most primitive type. Indeed, one Polar expedition records that it found the Eskimoes wearing these "jumps" or loose jackets.

In the seventeenth hundreds "jumps" became feminine, in the form of a kind of loose stays, chiefly worn as a sort of undress.

Then, in the eighteenth hundreds, the admiralty took notice of the word as a "jumper." It is officially mentioned as one of the new "rigs" of the lower deck.

From this curious ancestry has evolved the jumper of the girls of today!

Take All But Cabin.

A very curious propensity of the wolverine is its habit of stealing and carrying away articles which can be of no possible use to it, says the American Forestry Magazine. An instance is recorded where these animals removed and concealed the whole paraphernalia of an unoccupied hunter's lodge, including such articles as guns, axes, knives, cooking vessels and blankets.

Experienced hunters and trappers claim that a big wolverine may weigh as much as 60 pounds, but that 50 pounds is the more usual weight. They are very tenacious of life and instances are on record when the animal has been shot through and through the chest and not succumbed to the wound. In such cases, of course, the heart is not penetrated.

Do What You Can.

It is the greatest of all mistakes, to do nothing because you can only do little, but there are men who are always clamoring for immediate and stupendous effects, and think that virtue and knowledge are to be increased as a tower or temple are to be increased, where the growth of its magnitude can be measured from day to day, and you cannot approach it, without perceiving a fresh pillar, or admiring an added pinnacle.—Sydney Smith.

"Oh, That's Different."

Hazel—Why did you tell Edith that secret that I told you not to tell? Helen—I didn't tell her. I just asked her if she knew.

FEROCIOUS DENIZEN OF SEA

California Spotted Mornay Is a Creature Which No Fisherman Is Anxious to Make.

The California spotted mornay, or "sea eel" as it is popularly called, is credited with being the most ferocious marine animal in existence. The commonly observed, specimens are about three or four feet long, and about the size of a man's wrist. Their mouths are provided with needle-like teeth, and their jaws are so strong that cutting off the animal's head does not have the slightest effect in releasing its hold. Release can only be achieved by cutting the head to pieces so that the jaws cannot hold together.

Stories are told of fishermen being driven from their boats when a large specimen got loose after being hauled up, and these stories may easily be credited, considering the disposition of the small ones which are common to the California coast. Some of those found in the deeper water reach a length of six or eight feet, and a weight of 100 pounds. The animal can actually tie itself in a knot, and makes use of its extraordinary sinuosity for holding objects which it is eating, and for twisting and coiling around rocks.

UNABLE TO "FIGGER IT OUT"

Come to Think of It, Uncle Zeke Was Up Against Something of a Problem.

In a Georgia town dwells an old negro, who is supported by his wife. Uncle Zeke spends most of his time fishing in the brickyard pond; not that he expects to catch any fish, but "just to have some harmless amusement, eelie." Aunt Mary takes in washing. One day one of Aunt Mary's patrons broached the subject to her, and suggested that she should not encourage her husband's laziness by supporting him in idleness, but Aunt Mary protested.

"Deed, honey, mah ole man ain't lazy," she declared. "It's jest them scientific notions he got when he was a wackin' at de college." "But wint have scientific notions got to do with his not working?" "Got a whole lot to do, honey," Aunt Mary said, gathering up her basket. "Yo' see, dem ideas he's got was dat it wasn't healthy to wuck after meals; an' he ain't been able to figger out no way to 'compish dat, not yit, 'less he gives up eatin' an' course he can't do dat."

A Complete Angler.

"Clarence, come in to dinner!" Mrs. Jones stood at the door of her cottage, looking over toward a small boy who was fishing with a bent pin and herring bone on the brim of a puddle.

"Clarence—dinner!" Still Clarence fished. "Clarence!" No answer.

"If you don't come in to dinner at once, my son," threatened Mrs. Jones, "I won't give you any at all!" Only a sudden tension of the small boy's frame as he gazed eagerly into the depths of the murky puddle.

Mrs. Jones' patience was at an end. Silently she crept up behind the delinquent and then, suddenly seizing him by the shoulders, shook him violently to and fro.

"You rascal!" she cried. "Didn't you hear me call?"

"No, ma," said the youngster stonily. "I didn't hear you the first three times and the last time I had a bite!" —Exchange.

Dweller in a Cave.

Cave bears were great big beasts, weighing half a ton or more. They lived in Europe during prehistoric times, and were contemporaneous with our ancestors. They got their name from the fact that their bones are usually found in caves. All bears, as a matter of fact, prefer a den in some rocky hole to live and die in.

Cave bears are all extinct now, but their near relatives, the Siberian brown bear and the Alaskan Kodiak bear, are alive. Scientists were at a loss as to where to place these huge beasts until they discovered Pleistocene affinities for them. Although a cave bear stood as big as a small cow, he was relatively inoffensive. He preferred rooting in the ground or robbing an occasional bee tree to preying on animals and men.

New Musical Instruments.

It has been said by musicians that the violin family is composed of two pygmies—the violin and the viola—and two giants—the violoncello and the double bass. It is reasonable to suppose that the great gap between these two extremes could be advantageously diminished. It is not surprising, then, that two well-known French musicians, father and son, have, after years of study and experimentation, created a number of intermediary instruments which have entirely changed the nature of the violin family.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Preserving Homes of Famous Men.

The other day the chamber decided that the hermit's cottage at Serignan in Provence where the great entomologist, Henri Fabre, lived and died should become national property. But the Provencaux are not yet content. They now demand a like honor for their great Mistral, whose home is at Millaud. Mistral's widow still resides there as does the poet's pet spaniel, which wears a collar with the proud inscription "I am Jougous, the dog of the poet Mistral."—London Times.

ARMY REDUCING BOARD TO MEET

Second Lieutenants and Pershing Only Are Immune From Demotion.

Washington, July 24.—The board of general officers appointed to undertake the most wholesale "plucking" job ever initiated among the regular army officers' corps will hold its first meeting tomorrow, with Maj. Gen. Joseph T. Dickman, retired, presiding. It was to have begun operations toward the elimination or demotion of some 2,500 officers today, but was held up by the absence of one member.

Members of the board were concerned in their preliminary discussion today over the probable effect on the morale of the army of the suspended sentence now hanging over the head of practically every officer in the service with the exception of General Pershing and the second lieutenants.

Congress, in directing that the officers' corps be reduced by January 1 to 12,000 did not include the general officers of the army in fixing the number to be retained in each grade. The War Department, in preparing instructions for the "plucking board," did include the general officers insofar as retirement of any of the major or brigadier generals for physical disability would create vacancies and permit the appointment of colonels to general officer rank, reducing the number of surplus colonels to that extent.

Preliminary investigation indicates that probably more than 1,700 officers now on the rolls must be "separated" from the active service by honorable discharge. Such discharge, it will be pointed out, will not reflect the character of service rendered by the officer.

Board members are understood to feel that there is little prospect of finding many officers now on the rolls who merit discharge. The army recently cleaned house in this regard on its own motion.

THE IDEAL NEWSPAPER

A newspaper publisher, wishing to please his readers, asked for suggestions. "How can I make mine the ideal newspaper?" he inquired. "Cut out the crimes, the murders, the sensational divorce case reports," said the nice people.

"Cut out the accidents, the railway and steamship disasters," said the people who "couldn't hear" to read such things.

"Cut out the politics," said the old-fashioned woman, "I don't understand it and haven't time for it."

"Cut out the league of nations and all that heavy stuff," yawned the flappers of both sexes. "What's it all about anyway?"

"Cut out the so-called funny pictures," said the careful mother. "Such pictures aren't funny, and they're bad, very bad for children."

"Cut out the ponderous editorials," snapped the man who merely scans the headlines. "Nobody reads 'em nowadays."

"Cut out the woman's page," said the female with the strong mind. "It's mushy, trashy, trivial; an insult to our sex."

"Cut out sports and theaters," said the intellectual. "Both are bad influences and both have received altogether too much notice."

"Cut out—" began another and still another, but the publisher beat them to it.

"Stop all of you," he cried. "On second thought, I have decided to cut out myself. It's no use trying to publish the ideal newspaper until I come across the ideal reader." Saying which, he shut up shop and went into the wholesale saxophone business for rest.—Leslie's Weekly.

DUCK-BILLED PLATYPUS IS RECEIVED IN HAWAII

Honolulu, T. H., July 22.—A duck-billed platypus, the first of its kind to be landed alive on American soil, has recently been imported from Australia and may become a part of the zoological collection now maintained by the city of Honolulu.

The duck-billed platypus is in appearance a cross between a duck and a beaver. It lays eggs, but suckles its young.

Previous attempts to establish the platypus north of the equator have failed, making the proposition a risky one, particularly as the price asked for the bird-animal is $5,000.

Starch, sugar and fat are each composed of the same elements, carbon, hydrogen and oxygen, only in different proportions.

FARM DEPARTMENT.

Federal-aid road projects totaling 463 miles in length were completed and 541 miles went under construction during May, bringing the total under construction to nearly 15,000 miles and the mileage in completed projects to 17,038, according to reports of the Bureau of Public Roads, United States Department of Agriculture. These figures indicate that the Federal-aid system grew at a rate of more than 20 miles per day on each working day of the month. Allotments of funds to definite projects amounted to $7,328,000 during the month.

Hunters employed by the Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture have a motto: "If you are sent after an animal bring him in, regardless of how you have to get him." The story comes from Arizona of an old female wolf that had lost a foot in a trap, so that she had grown "trap wise" and wary and refused to take poisoned bait. The government hunter took his bed and laid it by a water hole where several wolves came to drink nearly every night. During the night he shot the wolf within 10 feet of his bed.

Lettuce is shipped from California the year round, according to the United States Department of Agriculture. New York and Florida shipping during the winter and early spring and New York during the rest of the year. Other States which ship lettuce commercially are North and South Carolina, New Jersey, Michigan, Colorado, Minnesota, Idaho and Washington.

Virginia Counties Complete.

Three breed associations, representative of prominent breeds of beef cattle, have appropriated funds to be given to the county in Virginia replacing the greatest number of scrubbers with purebreds, according to reports received by the Bureau of Animal Industry of the United States Department of Agriculture. As a result more than 100 scrubs have been replaced by purebred animals in the last few months.

County Assessor's Figures Aid Extension-work plans.

In making county and community programs of demonstrations and other extension activities for the year, extension agents in Oklahoma report to the United States Department of Agriculture that the use of county census and assessor's figures as a basis for determining the county's major agricultural problems is proving very successful. A meeting of the men and women from each community is called each year by the county agricultural agent for the purpose of making a program for the year's extension work.

In these meetings it has been found that these figures are of great service in showing agricultural conditions of the county in a concise and comprehensive way. In one instance it was found that about 51 per cent of the county's agricultural land was farmed by tenants. Discussion brought out the fact that the Federal farm loan was practically unknown in the county and plans were made to conduct a campaign to bring the benefits of the loan to the attention of the communities as a possible means of securing a greater percentage of farm ownership.

Figures showing that more acres in the county were being planted to wheat than any other crop started a discussion which indicated there was difference of opinion as to the best variety for the locality; it was therefore decided that demonstration plots of the best-fitted varieties of this crop be grown in eight sections of the county. In a similar way all the figures covering the agricultural activities of the county are studied in these program-making meetings, and as a result a program is made which is based on what statistics have shown to be the most urgent needs of the communities and in which general interest throughout the county is felt.

Painting Lengthens Life of Steel Highway Bridges.

The life of many steel highway bridges is materially shortened because of infrequent and improper painting, says the Bureau of Public Roads of the United States Department of Agriculture. Each year a considerable amount of money is spent for the replacement of rusted bridge members that would have remained sound if they had been kept painted; and more serious than the waste of money is the danger to the public due to the weakening of some hidden part which may cause the collapse of the whole bridge.

Officials of the bureau urge that all steel bridges be inspected at least once each year and repainted at the first sign of rusting. Normally, repainting is required at periods of from two to five years, depending on the climate. A suitable paint should be used, and if there is uncertainty about any paint, information should be requested from the State highway department.

It is a mistake to repaint without properly cleaning the metal of all dirt, rust, loose paint, and blisters. Usually the places hardest to reach are the ones that should receive the most attention.

Federal Market Services Have Nationwide Scope.

During the current fiscal year the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture has had field men stationed in approximately 130 cities and towns, conducting various lines of service and regulatory work in marketing.

Market news reports on fruits and vegetables have been issued from 14 permanent offices and from 33 temporary field stations. Live-stock and meat reports were issued from 9 permanent offices, dairy and poultry products reports from 7 offices, and cotton reports from 5 offices.

Food-products, inspectors have been maintained at 32 of the important central markets of the United States, and inspections of fruits and vegetables have been made at more than 100 points designated by the Secretary of Agriculture. Butter inspectors have been maintained at 5 of the best butter markets of the country, and a cheese inspector has been stationed at Fond du Lac, Wis., which is the center of one of the most important cheese-producing sections in the country.

For the enforcement of the United States grain standards act, branch offices have been maintained in 26 cities. There are six branch offices for the enforcement of the cotton futures act, and eight branch offices in connection with the administration of the United States Warehouse act.

Grasshoppers Doing Big Damage.

Since last winter the United States Department of Agriculture has been advising farmers in the Northwest to prepare early for grasshopper control this season by ordering poisoning material well in advance of hatching time. Reports received indicate that grasshoppers are already doing tremendous damage in eastern Montana and Wyoming, over a widely scattered area, where precautions have been inadequate. The pest will last six or eight weeks, or until about the middle of August. The Bureau of Entomology has four men in the territory helping in control work.

Should Allow for Future Traffic in Building Roads.

In building a road liberal allowance should be made for future increase in traffic, says the Bureau of Public Roads of the United States Department of Agriculture. A traffic count conducted by the bureau in co-operation with Tennessee officials on a number of roads in Davidson County, in which Nashville is located, shows surprising facts when compared with a similar count in 1916. During this period automobile registrations have doubled, while the number of motor vehicles on the road is five times as great as in 1916. In 1916 horse-drawn and motor-vehicle traffic were almost equal in volume. In 1921 horse-drawn traffic had decreased only slightly in volume and constituted 16 per cent of the traffic, motor vehicles constituting 85 per cent.

Observations in this and other counties lead to the conclusion that volume of traffic will increase in much greater proportion than the number of motor vehicles and will also depend to a large degree on the condition of improvement of the road and on the economic conditions in the adjacent territory.

Stocks of beef in cold storage on June 1, 1922 were but little over half those in storage last year and only slightly more than one-third the five-year-average stock, according to the United States Department of Agriculture.

Strawberries arrived on the New York market at the rate of two to three hundred cars a week during May, the United States Department of Agriculture reports. The shipments from all producing sections filled about 3,000 cars a week.

Weather Bureau Forecasts Review Of Crop Conditions.

On Wednesdays, from April to October, inclusive, the Weather Bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture will broadcast from Washington D. C., and Chicago, Ill., a summary of weather conditions as they affected crops during the preceding week. This summary will be included with the State and general forecasts issued twice daily from these district forecast centers. The States comprised in the Washington district are the New England States, New York, Pennsylvania, District of Columbia, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Tennessee, Kentucky, West Virginia and Ohio. Those included in the Chicago district are Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Missouri, Minnesota, Iowa, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Montana and Wyoming; also the upper and lower lakes.

These States and general forecasts are broadcast twice daily, Sunday and holidays included. Those for the Washington district are telegraphed from the naval radio station at Arlington, Va., at 10 a. m., on a wave length of 5,950 meters arc, and, at 10 p. m., on a wave length of 2,650 meters arc. Those for the Chicago district go from the naval station at Great Lakes, Ill., at 10.15 a. m. and 10.30 p. m., on a wave length of 4,900 meters arc. Special warnings of storms, cold waves, frosts, etc., issued in the afternoon, will be broadcast at 5 p. m. on the same wave length. Seventy-fifth meridian time applies to all of these schedules.

It is expected that these forecasts will be picked up by local radio stations in the various States and rebroadcast by radiophone.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA ANIMAL INTELLIGENCE

"Nature faking aside," said a zoo keeper the other day, "mice won't eat oleo. It is a fact. Lay a pat of oleo and a pat of butter side by side, and in the morning the butter will be gone, but the oleo will remain untouched."

"Oh, yes, some animals are incredibly nice about their food. The otter, when living wild, will only eat one piece, one mouthful, out of each fish he catches. He will land a beautiful trout, but only one bite of it, from the back just behind the neck, is good enough for him. The rest he tosses aside. This epicure often kills a dozen fine big trout to make one meal."

"Chimpanzees have very delicate tastes. A banana or a pineapple that to you seems delicious to a chimpanzee may be revolting. His taste is keener. Grapes grown in hothouses where sulphur fumes are used as an insecticide taste all right to a man but a chimpanzee will have none of them. I can tell a fresh one from a stale one simply by tapping the shell."

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running ear or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be removed and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surface of the system. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists. 75c. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

SIMPLICITY

I met a bashful little maid. Perhaps of eighteen summers. But though in simple garb arrayed She could defeat all comers In any contest as to looks By her dainty beauty; She made one thing of babbling brooks— To love her was a duty!

A flush suffused her cheek of tan. Her eyes were cast down shyly. Then I said: "Though a city man, I do esteem you highly!" "I'm glad you like me, sir," she said And smiled—oh wondrous dimple! "I wonder if you'd deign to wed With me, who am so simple!"

"Oh, lovely maid," I said, "you see— She saw that I was harried. "You need not answer that," said she. "For I'm already married. But I am glad you fell for this. Though now you'd better wake up. For I'm a movie country miss— I'm trying out my make-up!" —Chicago News.

DALTON WAS ON THE POINT OF GIVING UP

Since Taking Tanlac He is Like a New Man and Never Misses a Day From Store, Says Richmond Grocer.

"I reached the point where I planned to give up my work but since taking Tanlac I feel fine and never miss a day from my store," said R. E. Dalton, well-known grocer, of 423 Hull St., Richmond, Va.

"For two years I was in the worst sort of health and when I say I suffered I mean I suffered. My liver was sluggish, I had severe pains in my right side, and had to be always taking laxatives as I was badly constipated. Nearly every day I suffered terrible headaches and nervous spells. My digestion was so bad it looked like everything I ate disagreed with me. I had a mean taste in my mouth and was nauseated all day long."

"Tanic stopped all my troubles and built me back to where I have regained my lost weight and I never enjoyed finer health. My wife began taking Tanlac too, and is looking like a different person. We consider Tanlac simply great."

Tanic is sold by all good druggists.—Adv.

Old City Blizzard—When a woman arms herself with her favorite sticks, she may be headed for the toilet table or the golf links.

Atlanta Constitution—As the average employer sees it, the difficulty is not to get women in business, but to get business in women.

Kansas City Star—A Minnesota judge says women are a disappointment as jurors. So it might be added, are men.

Doing hard work in a bent or stooping position puts a stitch in the back that is painful. If the muscles have become strained, you can't get rid of it without help. The great penetrating power of Ballard's Snow Liniment will appeal to you most strongly at such times, because it is the very thing you need. Price 25c, 60c and $1.20 per bottle. Sold by Ohio County Drug Co.

JACK-RABBIT CAMPAIGNS

A total of 683,000 jack rabbits were killed in campaigns this past spring in Utah, Oregon and Washington, according to the U. S. department of agriculture. These figures are based on very close counts by farmers and other interested persons and are considered conservative. Probably a great many more rabbits were killed than were actually reported. These campaigns did much toward saving crops.

SARAH DUST COMING OUR WAY

Dust is carried by the wind for long distances, but not usually in quantities sufficiently large for identification. A sample of the dust that settled thickly on the decks of the Dutch steamship Yildum when 250 miles out at sea, in latitude 14-15 degrees N., longitude 22 degrees 10 minutes W.—21 degrees 31 minutes W., was recently sent to the Weather Bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture by the captain of the vessel. The dust was undoubtedly blown from the Desert of Sahara, which would be in approximately the same latitude as that reported by the Yildum. The Weather Bureau receives regular marine weather reports such as that sent in by this vessel from ships of 20 nationalities, which cooperate with the bureau in collecting and disseminating information about weather conditions at sea. Two days later the British steamship Dundrennan and the Dutch steamship Hagno, more than 1,500 miles west of the Yildum, though the amount of dust was smaller.

Pains Were Terrific

Read how Mrs. Albert Gregory, of R. F. D. No. 1, Blufford, Ill., got rid of her ills. "During . . . I was awfully weak . . . My pains were terrific. I thought I would die. The bearing-down pains were actually so severe I could not stand the pressure of my hands on the lower part of my stomach . . . I simply felt as if life was for but a short time. My husband was worried. . . One evening, while reading the Birthday Almanac, he came across a case similar to mine, and went straight for some Cardui for me to try.

TAKE

CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

"I took it faithfully and the results were immediate," adds Mrs. Gregory. "I continued to get better, all my ills left me, and I went through . . . with no further trouble. My baby was fat and strong, and myself—thank God—am once more hale and hearty, can walk miles, do my work, though 44 years old, feel like a new person. All I owe to Cardui." For many years Cardui has been found helpful in building up the system when run down by disorders peculiar to women.
